Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Holidays are here again. Our double-header Thanksgiving day gives us an option of which day to celebrate and we are celebratting today, at least in spirit. But Christmas is no longer a movable feast day. For some centuries it has been celebrated on December 25. Christmas we share with the Christian nations, and with some, we think, who have departed from even the forms of Christianity.

So today, being Thanksgiving Day by the Calendar, notwithstanding proclamations to the contrary, we give thanks for the following:

1 That America is still a democracy, despite tendencies toward authoritarianism.

2 That Greece, thus far, is victorious, and England, stubborn.

3 That the United States is aiding Great Britain in its struggle, and rearming against that day when it can become the leader in world affairs.

4 That under the impetus of defense preparation and the Selective Service Act unemployment is being reduced.

5 That the United States Congress refuses to adjourn in these critical times.

6 That California is preparing to, and will, play a major role in national defense.

7 That the prospect for Nevada county's gold mining industry for some years to come, is good.

In general terms these are things we can all be thankful for, and of course, each one personally for whatever good fortune he has enjoyed this year. To the newspaper mind the world was never more vitally interesting than today, though little of the news is the kind for which humane and intelligent folks can give thanks.

But it is an era in which even the dullest must be stirred, when all dispatches from world capitols, including our own, is freighted with deep significance to us, in peaceful America. In an historical sense there may be something to be thankful for in the fact that 131 million Americans, have "come alive". In times of peace and blessed prosperity, we grow indifferent, slothful, soft and concerned almost completely with our local and personal affairs.

But now that war flames in ever widening circles and we find we must bestir ourselves to defend our order against world disorder, every citizen has a quickened sense of his responsibilities. It is rather in this quickening, than in material resources that our defense is best attained. For, behold England, but half prepared, a people of 40 millions faced with a hostile nation of 80 millions or more. England, indomitable, courageous, battling for its existence with an exalted and conquering spirit!

Though we parted with Great Britain in one of its periods of imperialistic over-reaching, when its saner leaders were silenced, and too, when it was deeply involved in another war, still we are heirs of England in laws, language, custom and common traditions. These bonds have been weakened, and the blood stream diluted to be sure, by a comparatively small admixture of the worst elements from abroad. Our nation has been not only a sanctuary for the oppressed and a haven for lovers of liberty, but, let us face the facts frankly, also the dumping ground of foreign criminals and the lode star of the lowest and worst population of the old world. A large segment of this undesirable population, still speaking frankly, was imported in the decade or two when our steel masters and captains of industry played a leading and villianous role in our history.

For years, we recall quite well, enlightened men both in private and public life struggled for action in Congress to limit immigration. It was only at the turn of the century that the stream of immigration was reduced to a trickle of those who gave promise of sound American citizenship.

The seeds of dissension, of sabotage, of racketeering, and of treachery were sown in those years that our national portals were hospitably open to the world. The first general manifestation of this was the I. W. W. Almost a generation later we witness an assault on our institutions by the heirs of that first battalion of sedition.

Belatedly and sometimes it seems reluctantly, our government moves to restrict and guard against this enemy within our gates. The administration is not yet awake to the fact that this internal enemy is far more formidable than the enemy nations overseas, far more menacing to our democracy than German or Japanese.

Empire-Star vs. Butler Suit Will Be Delayed

THREE WITNESSES HAVE TAKEN STAND SO FAR IN IMPORTANT MINE LITIGATION PROCEEDINGS HERE

A criminal trial in the superior court here Monday, the Big Game Saturday and tomorrow's regular law motion calendar proceedings will force a postponement until next Tuesday or Wednesday of the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., vs. Cooley Butler litigation, which has been in progress before Judge Warren Steel since Monday.

At the end of today's proceedings in the case Judge Steel indicated he would take an adjournment until after the jury trial in the superior court here of Charles Matlock, accused of the recent Alpha Store burglary. The Matlock trial is expected to be concluded in a day. Judge Steel said both he and Judge Jones had their regular law motion calendars to preside over tomorrow and he did not believe it would be proper to hear the case half a day Saturday as many of the trial principals no doubt would like to see the Stanford-California gridiron struggle. So the case will be resumed next week.

Three Witnesses

Since the trial opened Monday but three witnesses have taken the stand, all for the plaintiff.

The witnesses were William Simkins, executive of the Newmont Mining Corporation, Fred Nobs, executive vice president of the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., and John R. Mann, general manager of the Empire-Star Mines.

Through the expert testimony of the three and additional mining experts to be placed on the stand, the Empire-Star Mines will attempt to prove Butler, operator of the Golden Center Mine in Grass Valley, purposely drilled holes connecting Golden Center workings with the workings of the Pennsylvania Mine, property of the plaintiff, to dewater the Golden Center property.

Model Introduced

A model of the underground workings in question, made by Ed Uren of this city, is used extensively by the plaintiff, which introduced the model in direct examination of witnesses and the defense in cross examination.

Simkins occupied the witness stand all of Monday and part of Tuesday. Nobs took the stand following Simkins, Nobs was on the stand one day and a half. Manager Mann took the stand at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

Mann Testified Today

When the trial opened today Mann continued under direct examination. The cross examination of the mine manager as well as the remainder of his direct testimony will take the remainder of the day and possibly will continue when the trial is resumed next week.

The outcome of the litigation is awaited with interest by mining men throughout the United States. The mine suit is the most important in this county since the Champion-Home trial 35 years ago.

Searls Trial Attorney

The trial attorney for the plaintiff is Robert Searls. Assisting him are William Colby of San Francisco and Frank Finnegan of this city.

Pierce Butler, son of the late Supreme Court Justice Butler, is the trial attorney for the defense. His assistants are H. Ward Sheldon of this city and G. Allen Bisbee of Los Angeles.

Jim Snell Seeks Damages From Nevada County For Trespassing On His Land

Attorney Asks $1,500 Damages and Restraining Order

Seeking $1,500 damages and an injunction preventing the continuance of road construction activities on his property near Town Talk, James James Snell, attorney, today filed suit in the superior court here against the County of Nevada and the supervisors individually.

The suit charges the defendants, who include Supervisor Cary Arbogast, Jay Coughlin, Alex Robertson, Warren Odell and Frank Rowe, with entering upon his property with tractors, bulldozers, scrapers, picks, shovels and other equipment against his will to construct a road.

Asks Injunction

Snell asks the defendants be enjoined from claiming or asserting any right or title to the land; that a temporary restraining order be issued, preventing the defendants from interfering with the use of the property by the plaintiff and $1,500 damages already sustained by reason of the alleged unlawful acts of the defendants.

The suit sets forth that on different occasions the plaintiff has ordered the defendants to desist digging up his lands, orders with which the defendants refused to comply.

Building of Road Planned

The attorney sets forth he is informed the defendants intend to construct a road and highway upon his lands and thereby take the lands for public use.

It is charged in the suit the defendants have not passed any resolution declaring that the public interest and necessity require the acquisition by the County of Nevada of any part or portion of the plaintiff's lands whatever for any public or other use whatever, or declaring that any part or portion of the lands of the plaintiff be condemned for any public or any use whatever.

MINER'S INJURIES IN CAVEIN CAUSE HIS DEATH HERE

Rock Slide Catches G. Chapman As He Prepares For Blasting

Glenn Chapman, 40, Graniteville miner, died last night from injuries suffered Tuesday when caught in a rock slide in his mining tunnel.

Practically buried by debris and pinned to the ground by a huge rock it required four men who came to his aid a considerable length of time to extricate Chapman.

Chapman was just getting ready to blast when the cavein occurred. Four men working on the opposite side of the creek from where Chapman's tunnel is located rushed to his aid. The injured man was brought to the county hospital here in the Holmes ambulance.

The body of the deceased was sent to Napa for funeral services and burial. The arrangements were handled by the Holmes Funeral Home of this city.

Chapman leaves his wife, Julia Chapman, wo assisted him in his mining operations, his parents and two brothers in Napa.

DEADLINE FOR REGISTRATION OF ALIENS IS NEAR

December 26 this year will mean more to 800,000 residents of this country than just the day after Christmas. This is the last day upon which aliens may register and be fingerprinted without incurring federal penalties of six months in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

Registration for selective service does not fulfill the requirements of alien registration and signing up for one does not automatically mean you have complied with the other.

Foreign-born war veterans did not receive citizenship by such service without due formality and this registration is incumbent upon him as well as any other alien.

The post office department and the justice department are ready to aid in this work and no fee is collectable so aliens are warned to beware of racketeers who tell them they can fix things.

All foreign born who have not attained full citizenship, should see to it that they are registered by December 26. Children under 14 must be registered by their parents or guardians.

Because of the usual Christmas season rush at post offices, aliens who have not already registered are urged to do so at once.

Jobs, Ins.

With war spreading through southern Europe and threatening to engulf Africa and all Asia, long-term predictions on the world's future can be little more than pure guesswork even by the wisest of prophets. For the year immediately ahead however, the future of America seems the brightest in a generation. Relief rolls are shrinking. Ranks of the unemployed are thinning. Construction, expansion, production are the rising order of the times. Consumption nationally, of electric power has soared to an all time peak of more than 15,000,000 kilowatt hours for the first nine months of this year—approximately 50 per cent greater than the power production of 1929. America's railroads are budgeting enormous sums to keep step with traffic needs. Auto sales are shattering records from coast to coast.

In all that resurgence of industrial activity, California retains the "white spot" position she held through the depression. The percentage of California farm families owning motor vehicles is the highest in the nation—97 per cent. The construction budget of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company is $26,000,000— $2,000,000 over last year. The railroad industry, against odds too, is making jobs for men, the Southern Pacific alone expending over $17,000,000 for 20 new locomotives, 2540 freight cars and 51 air-conditioned streamlined passenger cars, and joining hands to build and operate a new transcontinental luxury train. Such activities, spreading through all manufacturing, growing, processing and distributing, are providing the answer to the problems of unemployment, of relief, of business bankruptcy and governmental deficits, of stagnation in production and consumption—the answer summed up in the word "Jobs", jobs for millions of creating, earning, spending builders of America.

Ahead of wretched Europe lies a year of wholesale destruction. But America s current history might be written on a page headed, Jobs, Inc.—Contributed.

The Big Game

This is the week when the Big Game fever sweeps California.

In every city and county, alumni of Stanford and the State University debate the merits of Jurkovich and Standlee, of Hatcher and Albert, of the T formation of Stanford and the short punt and single wing formation of California. The fever will reach its height at 2 p. m. Saturday, when the kickoff launches the classic in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium—but it will not die when the final gun ends the battle. There will be only a lull before the shift of enthusiasm to the clash of the nation's collegiate stars in the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco—and then a shorter lull before the attention of the football world centers on the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena on New Year's Day. Then only will the national Big Game fever die for the season, the fever that raged when Michigan met Minnesota, when St. Mary's met Santa Clara, when Notre Dame met Army, when Yale met Harvard, when U. S. C. met U. C. L. A.

And when the Big Game fever dies the night of January 1, every sincere American, whether or not he cares for sports, may well pray that next Autumn will again find the arguments, the roaring throngs, the Big Game and the football fever. For only in a nation at peace can the healthful fever of sports enthusiasm exist. In the war year of 1918 America abandoned Big Games; there was no Big Game for Stanford and California—there was only the frim, overshadowing, deadly game of death on the battlefields for American boys to play. The Big Games are more than football contests in their significance today. They are symbols of the great oasis of peace and security that is ours in a surrounding world desert of misery and destruction.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about poison oak
And other ranfl, obnoxious plants,
I wonder about termites too
And other forms of flying ants.
Why did dame nature make the things?
And why did Noah then preserve them?
And why, in this enlightened age,
Do we conserve them?

I wonder why modern man, who does so much to make his surroundings safe and sanitary, doesn't go steps farther and exterminate many still existing pests which endanger his health and upset his mental equilibrium.

To be sure, scientific research has taught us how to make life difficult for house flies, garden ants, canal zone mosquitoes and Rocky Mountain ticks, but we still have rattle snakes. rats, black widow spiders and termites; and we do very little about them, aside from buying remedies for the cure of their bites and stings and wondering why Noah allowed them to survive when he had so perfect an opportunity to nip them in the bud.

Why not appoint committees to discover their favorite hide outs and finish them once and for all?

I wonder if the worthy legislators now recessing in Washington D C., will be content to sit and twiddle their representative thumbs during the weeks before them. They might improve the golden hours by enacting laws calculated to curb the activities of traitorous insufferables who live and move and have their unsavory being within our borders.

Human termites, rats and gad flies, should be labeled with the word traitor and dealt with accordingly. No doubt our law makers and law enforcement agencies are working strenuously to end the undermining activities of foreign undesirables; but we wish they would move more rapidly and effectively.

I wonder about vitamins. What a hold they have upon popular imagination! Calories are not so fortunate. In fact, calories are often considered taboo, especially among slenderizes; but vitamines are consumed sans consideration of size and number.

What do vitamines look like? No one knows and that fact worries me greatly. I once peered at a glass of water through a powerful magnifying glass and what I saw—well I've had qualms about using water as a beverage ever since. If vitamines look like the monsters which inhabit aqua pura, I prefer caories.

Vitamines come to us neatly labeled a b c and so on to xyz and we consume them unhesitatingly, although ordinarily we refuse to accept food stuffs without some degree of analytical forethought. It seems that one is never in danger of devouring too many of these unseens, and that thought should make us pause and think. At the present rate of consumption how long will the supply of vitamines hold out? This subject is too much for me; take it away you vitamine experts, I'm through.

I never saw a vitamine, I never heard one crawl;
And there are times when I'm convinced they don't exist at all.

Politically Speaking

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Gov. Olson's control of the state government will take an upswing about the first of the year, when approximately 100 term appointments to various state boards and commissions will open up.

Democratic appointees will gain majorities in a number of the agencies for the first time. In other cases however, the administration will not gain control until 1942, and a few agencies cannot be controlled by any governor during his first term—barring deaths or resignation—because of lengthy terms provided for the members, some as long as ten years.

In one important agency, the state railroad commission, Gov. Olson will get his first representation when the term of Franck R. Devlin of Berkeley expires on Jan. 1. Olson's appointee will serve six years and receive $6000 a year.

The railroad commission, incidentally, is one of the agencies which will not have a democratic majority during the governor's four year term, since no further vacancies occur until Jan. 1, 1943. Two terms expire then, and the remaining two in 1945.

The governor will again gain control of the important board of prison terms and paroles when Fred L. Esola, San Francisco, goes off the board in January. This agency, which fixes terms and grants paroles to prisoners in the state penitentiaries, is headed by John Gee Clark, Olson-appointed director of penology and consists of only three members. Joseph H. Stephens, of Sacramento, will remain on the board as the lone republican representative.

A choice 10 year appointment to the state personnel board will be open when the ex-officio term of State Controller Harry B. Riley expires January 15, but will give only two administrative votes out of a total of five.

Personnel board members are paid only on a per diem basis, but the board meets so frequently the monthly payments sometimes run more than $200 per member, at the rate of $15 a day. Riley, who incidentally did not accept the per diem allowance, served on the board under a provision of the original civil service act making the controller an ex-officio member until 1941, when the position would be filled by appointment of the governor.

Olson will gain control of the industrial accident commission with expiration of the term of L J. Muddox of Modesto. This position pays $5000 a year.

Two additional vacancies will be open on the 10 man state board of education, which the administration already controls, with expiration of the terms of Edna S. Kasch, Ukiah, and Ford A. Chatters, Lindsey. In addition, the term of Dr. L. P. Cruther of Long Beach, chairman of the board, expired last January but he was not replaced.

Among agricultural appointments on the state board of agriculture, two on the agricultural prorate advisory commission and five on the board of directors of the state fair.

Other major appointments to be open to the governor are as follows:

One member of the University of California board of regents, to serve for a 16 year term; two members each of the athletic commission, industrial welfare commission, board of trustees of the California institution for women at Tehachapi, board of public health, social welfare board board of directors of the California Nautical School; planning board, and real estate board; seven members of the board of directors of the Women's Relief Corps Home; five members of the appreciceship council; one member of the park commission, a sheriff member of the board of managers of the state bureau of criminal identification.

Two members each of the following professional and vocational standards boards: accountancy, chiropractic examiners (also two present vacancies, cosmetology, dental examiners, embalmers and funeral directors, medical examiners, osteopathic examiners, pharmacy, examiners in veterinary medicine, and contractors license board one each of the following: architectural examiners, barber examiners, board of registration of civil engineers, optometry, structural pest control board and board of nurses examiners.

NEVADA CITY AIR PORT GIVEN O. K. BY STATE BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Public ownership and improvement of 138 airports and landing fields throughout the state was recommended by the State Planning Board today.

The recommendations were contained in a preliminary draft of a master plan for airports and airways in California submitted by the board to Gov. Olson. The report was prepared at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, the board said, and is designed to meet the requirements of transport, commercial and private for the next five years.

"When adopted, the final plan is expected to influence the allocation of public funds available for airport development." it was explained by Prof. Samuel C. May of the University of California, chairman of the planning board. If it were put into effect, every important city in California would be served conveniently by regularly scheduled tranport airlines, airports would be of a size commensurate with the expected type and volume of air traffic expected at the community, and aviation would become a coordinated element in our transportation system," May said.

"Present airplane services would be maintained, and new services would connect San Diego with the east, San Francisco with Eureka, Los Angeles with El Centro, and the major cities of the central valley with both Los Angeles and San Francisco."

The final plan may recommend that certain airports of importance to the defense program be made larger than required merely for commercial and private flying, the board added. With this purpose in view, the preliminary plan will be reviewed by an aviation advisory committee composed of experts in civil aviation and representatives of the army and navy.

The number of proposed "first priority" landing areas designated by the board was somewhat less than the existing total. May explained that many small, privately owned fields have been omitted from the plan because they are not considered of sufficient public importance to warrant the expenditure of public funds for their improvement or maintenance.

He pointed out, however, that most of them probably will continue to be operated by their owners, and the net result should be an adequate number of large, publicly owned airports supplemented by numerous small, privately owned fields.

In addition, the board's recommendations make provision for 37 "second priority" airports which may be needed later and for which it was urged that land be reserved now.

The report did not include Los Angeles county, for which an airport plan already has been prepared by the Los Angeles county regional planning commission. Recommendations for other cities were as follows:

First priority class 4 airports, to accommodate the largest transport planes—Oakland, San Diego, and San Francisco.

First priority class 3 airports, for medium sized transport planes—Bakersfield, Berkeley, El Centro, Fresno, Red Bluff, Sacramento, San Bernardino, Treasure Island and Stockton.

First priority class 2 airports, for small transport and large commercial and private planes — Alameda, Chico, Eureka, Hayward, Lake Tahoe, Marysville, Merced, Modesto, Monterey, Oceanside, Oxnard, Palm Springs Palo Alto, Pittsburg, Porterville, Redding, Richmond, Riverside, Salinas, San Jose, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, San Rafael, Santa Ana, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, Santa Maria, Santa Rosa, Ukiah, Vallejo and Visalia.

First priority class 1 airports, for small commercial and private planes—Alturas, Barstow, Bishop, Blythe, Brawley, Buena Park, Clear Lake, Coalinga, Corning, Crescent City, Delano, Dunsmuir, Escondido, Fort Bragg, Fullerton, Furnace Creek, Grass Valley, Hanford, Healdsburg, Hemet, Hollister, Indio, King City, La Jolla, La Mesa, Lassen Park, Lodi, Madera, Mariposa, Martinez, Mill Valley, Montague, Mountain View, Napa, National City, Needles, Nevada City, Newport Beach, Ontario, Oroville, Palm City, Paso Robles, Petaluma, Placerville, Redlands, Roseville, Santa Maria, Santa Paula Sonora, Susanville, Taft, Watsonville, Willows, Woodland and Yosemite.

First priority emergency fields—Auburn, Bagdad, Blue Canyon, Bridgeport, Chester, Covelo, Delta, Desert Center, Etna, Fall River Mills, Garberville, Gustine, Hayfork, Independence, Inyokern, Jacumba, Julian, Klamath, Livermore, Los Hills, Mendota, Mojave, Mono Lake, Owens Lake, Portola, Quincy, Ravendale, Salton Sea, Shoshone, Silver Lake, Suisun, Truckee, Twenty Nine Palms, Weaverville and Williams.

Second priority class 1 airports—Arcata, Banning, Big Bear, Bodega Bay, Calexico, Corona, Davis, Dinuba, Elsinore, Fillmore, Fortuna, Gilroy, Gridley Jackson, Laguna Beach, Lava Veds National Monument, Lindsay, Lompoc, Los Gatos, Ookdale, Rio Vita, Sanger, Selma, Three Rivers, Tracy, Tulare, Turlock, Ventura and Willits.

Second priority class 1 airports also were suggested at the following cities for which first priority class 3 airports were recommended: Bakersfield, El Centro, Fresno, Red Bluff, Sacramento, San Bernardino and Stockton.

CALIFORNIA HAS EVERYTHING FOR YULETIDE FEAST

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

California, it so happens, produces more Christmas dinners—or at least more of the savory ingredients which go into Christmas dinners—than any other state or area on the face of the globe.

In fact, if Mrs. America were denied the help of the California farmer at Christmas time, she would be hard put to it to fill the void.

California will provide more turkeys for American tables this Yuletide season than any other state in the Union.

California, too, will provide millions of roast chickens; millions of fried chickens; millions of eggs for millions of cakes; raisins for the puddings; oranges and walnuts and almonds for Christmas stockings in millions of households.

In most homes, the asparagus tips for the salads, the lettuce and the tomatoes—or perhaps the halves of avocados—will have come from California. And the preserved and spiced fruits, which add the final festive touch to a sumptuous Christmas feast—they, too, will have come from California, in all probability.

And California farmers, right about now, are hard at work preparing the fixings for tens of millions of American dinners that will make Christmas day this year a memorable occasion.

This story is written, not simply to remind California farmers of their important role in holiday festivities, but also to reassure the nation that there will be no shortage of Christmas delicacies on December 25, even though imported foods are running low and may not be available.

From New York comes a news dispatch that there's only enough caviar in the United States to last until Christmas.

And supplies of pate de fois gras are practically exhausted.

Olive oils, imported cheeses, chestnuts, and other luxury items from foreign lands are also apt to be costly, if obtainable.

But happily, America is not dependent on imports from war torn Europe.

This nation, which loves its plain American foods, has plenty of beans—and plenty of pork—for American pork and beans. It has turkeys and cranberries and pumpkins in bumper quantities. It has sweet corn, quick frozen so that it will taste fresh all winter. Due to California's Imperial Valley and other warm belts, it has fresh vegetables when the snows are flying back in the Middle-West, and New England. It has glaced apricots and prunes; watermelon rind preserves; fancy cheeses which would make the Swiss envious; syrup and buckwheat for cakes.

When it comes to food, this nation—our America—has everything.

There's only one problem — and that's to see that all Americans have the money with which to buy it. Our only real problem in this country is to achieve domestic peace, as we have peace with other nations, so that men of all creeds and classes can find work again—and security at their own firesides.

America need not worry, as it approaches the Yuletide season, because caviar and goose liver paste are running short. It need not be too disturbed for lack of Italian olive oils, or Swiss cheese, for actually American cheese can't be improved upon—and American butter is an improvement upon the finest olive oils from Italy.

During the Yuletide season, however, America does need to give thought to how its bounty can be spread among all its people. California can supply more delicacies for holiday banquets than all foreign lands combined. America just needs work—and that's the job all America should buckle down to. We have conquered producton; we now need only to conquer distribution. We need only learn to live together!

WHAT TO DO WITH MICKEY IS PROBLEM PUZZLING SIERRANS

The ferocity of Mickey, Downieville pet deer, belies the nature of of its species.

Mickey's disposition is a far cry from the ordinary timidity of deer and, according to Mrs. B. Rose of Downieville, steps should be taken to assure the protection of the women and children of Downieville from the ferocious animal.

In a letter to the Downieville Messenger, Mrs. Rose wrote:

"I wish you would put this in your paper to warn all persons, especially women and children, to be on their guard against 'Mickey', the pet deer that roams the vicinity of the North Fork and Downieville. He attacked me and I am still in bed from the effects of my struggle with him, and had it not been for my strength, he would have killed me for we struggled for more than half an hour, and I thought each moment would be my last.

"I have since learned that Dr. Sutton also had a similar experience with him that lasted a good half hour and many others know his (Mickey's) disposition.

"A woman is not safe alone on the North Fork trail, nor are the children even here in Downieville safe, for I know he has been in town more than once.

"I reported the incident to the forest service as well as the gamewarden.

"If they don't want some one killed by that deer he should be kept tied up or in a pen or sent to a zoo for the safety of all concerned.

"Make this a safety zone."

"MRS. B. ROSE."

NEWSPAPER ADS GET CREDIT FOR BEER SUCCESS

Karl F. Schuster, president of Acme Breweries, has been notified of his election as a director of the U. S. Brewers Association which is a national organization that devotes itself to the development of sound fundamentals of the brewing industry. Schuster is the only Northern California director.

Karl Schuster gives full credit to newspaper advertising for its help in achieving Acme success, stating that his company has never failed to use newspaper advertising on an ever-expanding scale since repeal.

It is felt that Schuster's election as director is in the nature of a tribute paid to the important position that Acme Breweries occupies in the industry. Although its business is restricted to the far west, its output is the 19th largest in the nation, according to the Research Corporation of America, an achievement never before attained by any west coast brewery.

SPORTS

FEVER OF "BIG GAME" GRIPS THIS CITY; NOT MANY WILL ATTEND BUT ALL WILL "LISTEN IN"

"Big Game" fever has gripped Nevada City. When the Stanford Red machine lines up against the strong California Bears Saturday there will not be many from this city in the stadium but practically everyone will be "listening in" on the radio broadcast.

There is plenty of talk and even a little small betting here on the outcome of the battle but it seems not many can afford time from their business or work to attend the game.

Those Attending

Jean Rowe of County Clerk R. N. McCormack's office will attend as well as Frank and Bob Michell, sons of Lee Michell of this city. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leete will join their son and daughter in law Mr. and Mrs. Harley Leete, Jr., in Berkeley and attend the game. Mr. and Mrs. James Tyrrell, the former the chairman of the Nevada County Selective Service Board, will also be present.

For California and Stanford alumni the "Big Game" fever reached its pitch at the annual "Big Game" dinner, held last night at the Bramble Bush in Grass Valley.

In the absence of Judge George L. Jones, who was unable to attend, William Wilson, vice principal of the Grass Valley High School presided.

"Patriarch of Indians"

The oldest Stanford graduate present, J. Winton Smith, '08 of San Jose, opened the speaking as the "patriarch" of the Indian cause. Smith, who has attended ten big games has never seen the Red eleven lose. Mrs. Harold J. Crase, California '06, has attended six big games and has never seen the Bears whipped.

The youngest Stanford graduate attending, Tony Mecia, '39, former Grass Valley High School and Stanford gridder, really "poured it on" in his estimate of the individual and collective ability of the Stanford Red. Harold Biggs, California '16, "patriarch" of the state university alumni at the meeting, and Downey Clinch, California '38, youngest Californian attending, upheld the cause of the Blue and Gold capably.

Other Speakers

Other speakers included Robert T. Ingram, Henry Viets and Wilson, who explained briefly and concisely the merits of the style of play of the two squads and the chances of success each possess.

Abe Abell, graduate of the University of South Dakota and who played football for California's Coach "Stub" Allison, "way back when," gave the closing remarks of the impromptu program, his contribution maintaining the non-haevy admirably suited level of football celebrations.

Among the A players are Joe Widauf, Allen Spracklen, Ronald Joyal, Ed Jacobs, Floyd Ruth, Clifford Masterson and Charles Thomas.

The B squad players include Everett Angove, Dick Gregory, Howard Ronnigen, Bob Bonner, Jack McCarthy, Clemente Henwood, Warren Smith, Walter Barnes, Jack Neal and LeRoy Leonard.
